José Vicente Rojas
Pastor, Millennium Church
Director, Office of Volunteer Ministries

There have been many requests for José Rojas to be an Adventist Preaching speaker, so Adventist Preaching is proud to present Pastor Rojas, the energetic and passionate ministries director of the North American Division.

His commitment to Volunteer Ministries compelled him to accept a personal challenge to pastor a church plant in Silver Spring, Maryland. Besides being a very involved father of four and supportive husband to his wife, Ruthie, Rojas has determined to bring ten people to Christ through personal witness outside his regular work activities.

Pastor Rojas says, "The exciting part of this series is that it affirms the most foundational elements of Adventist theology and commitment to soul-winning as a way of life." Rojas believes that ministry is not just for the pastor. It is for every church member.

José Rojas is an accomplished musician and recording artist as well as an author and passionate preacher of the Word. He was honored by the Maryland Governor for leadership in community action and serves as a member of The Alliance for Youth, founded by former Secretary of State Colin Powell. José was privileged to carry the official Olympic Torch into Washington D.C. as the flame made its journey to the Atlanta Olympic Games in 1996.

Adventist Preaching is a collection of sermon series presented by some of the most renowned preachers in the Adventist Church. It is produced quarterly to provide sermons for churches without speakers and to give members the opportunity to build a personal DVD library of favorite Adventist preachers.
